

Robo-Advisor in Asset Management 2.0

Robo-Advisors in Asset Management are getting more and more popular. The debate is about whether smart algorithm can replace the traditional advise by a human investment manager with long-lasting experiences. What does it take to build a smart portfolio and who has better cards to do so. The computer and the human? And how can current robo-advisor become smarter (Robo-advisor 2.0)?